

GOVERNOR WHITMAN SPEAKS TO ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCE

Auditorium Crowded at Morning Meeting to Hear Issues of State Campaign Discussed—The Governor Defies His Opponent to Truthfully Assail His Record and Points Out the Frivolity of Seabury's Statements.

A stirring exposition of the absurdity of Judge Seabury's assertions of militarism in the state and a ringing challenge to the Democratic candidate to point to a single instance of corruption or to any unfit man holding office under his administration were the outstanding features of Governor Charles S. Whitman's eloquent address which was cheered to the echo by more than 1,000 men at the Broadway Auditorium this morning.

Notwithstanding the strain of strenuous campaigning it was the same militant executive who faced a most cordial Kingston audience and demanded of his opponent facts and names such as the governor cited two years ago in his exposure of graft in the state administration at Albany and further charged Judge Seabury with attacking President Wilson's administration in raising the issue of sending the troops to the border, with which the executive had as little to do as any man in the audience. It was a rousing reception which was given the governor, and his speech was interrupted again and again by vociferous applause as he eloquently disposed of the frail efforts at issues floated by his opponent.

Mayor Canfield presided at the meeting and the Governor's train being delayed, he discussed National and State issues briefly and then introduced Senator Charles W. Walton. The latter, always a popular figure in the Kingston audience, forcefully reviewed the work of the legislature in the upper house of which he is a most influential member. The senator laid stress upon the necessity for a Democratic majority in the legislative branch of the state government in order to uphold a Republican executive and, among other accomplishments of the legislature, he cited the defeat of the special legislation under which New York City sought exemption for its water supply system thus removing a lot of taxable property from Ulster county tax rolls and throwing a heavy burden upon the several towns affected. Senator Walton was given hearty applause, especially when he paid tribute to the public service of the Republican standard-bearer in the nation and state, Charles E. Hughes and Governor Whitman.

In commenting upon the Wilson administration, Mayor Canfield stated that it went into office on a pledge to strengthen the wings of the eagle on the American dollar but instead had clipped the wings so that a dollar was weakening almost daily when presented in exchange for the necessities of life.

At this point Governor Whitman entered to an outburst of applause. In introducing the Governor, the Mayor referred to the two years ago when he had presented Mr. Whitman as a candidate.

"I said at the time that he was every whit a man in name and deed," declared the Mayor, "and I say today after his splendid service to the people that he is every whit a man's man."

The Governor was unable to begin for a few moments until the applause had subsided but he soon showed himself on his mettle, first apologizing for the condition of his voice and then proceeding with characteristic Whitman logic and vigor to annihilate the flimsy claims which Judge Seabury has endeavored to raise to the dignity of issues against the administration at Albany.

Governor Whitman spoke as follows:

"Mr. Chairman and Ladies and Gentlemen:—I feel that I owe an apology to every audience that I am addressing, coming to you as I do in such a condition of voice, after having spoken ten and twelve times a day for the last three or four weeks, the roughness and harshness of my voice, I know inflicts a good deal more pain upon the audience than any suggestion of any suffering which my friends are declaring that I must be undergoing, because I am not.

It is a great privilege for me to address you, and I am giving you the voice that is left. (Applause.) It is yours, if you will take it.

"Discussing, even briefly, as we must, as we are going from village to village and city to city, the work of the administration and the work of the party, as represented by its members in the legislature, in the various branches of the government during the last two years, I know that you will all appreciate and understand the difficulty which I have in even referring briefly to the work that is being done by the men whom you have elected to office, and the men who are working under the various departments, numerous as they are, in all these governmental activities of this great state, and they are tremendous in extent, reaching out into every home in this state and touching directly and indirectly every life in this state, and we have ten millions of people in New York; three millions more than the Dominion of Canada.

"Why, the Legislature at Albany legislates, passes laws—for three millions more people than do all the Provincial Parliaments of Canada and the Dominion Parliament put together. The work of the administration and the work of the legislature, so vast in extent, that it is almost, as you must realize, impossible for me even to touch upon its various branches or its various ramifications. Now, during the last three or four weeks, or two or three weeks, I have been trying to see if it were not possible to create a condition where, in the language of the lawyer in court, there could be an issue joined; where it could be perfectly clear to the people of this state just what it is or just where the alleged corruption or the alleged wrong doing of the alleged something against the administration—just what our opponents are charging.

"You know, in the trial of a suit in court, we seek by the means of the pleadings to join issues; something that is affirmed or alleged on the one side and denied on the other, so that the judge and the jury, or the judge or the jury, may clearly understand what they are to pass upon. Now, we haven't been able, so far, to create such a condition with my opponent. He declares to the people of the state that he is going to make an end of corruption at Albany.

"Now, ladies and gentlemen, I want to ask you if you can recall a single campaign—and search your memory as far back as you can remember—where those who were out—the party out of power, represented by its candidates, or by its leaders, or by its campaign orators, didn't declare that there was corruption in office and they were going to put an end to it of they were elected.

"It is a very old story; it is a very old charge. I ought to know, for I said it myself two years ago. (Laughter and applause.)

"The difference in the position which I took and that which my opponent is assuming today is this: When I said it, I told you where it was, didn't I? I mentioned names—I am not going to mention them again; there is no need of going into ancient history. That administration is past, and the best thing in the world about it is that it is past.

"But ladies and gentlemen, I am referring to the fact that I did give you the names of men with whose records I was familiar, and with whose records some of you became familiar during the last four or five years; I pointed to the departments in which twenty-two indictments for corruption had been found; I told you the names of men responsible in the various departments, what they had been and what their records were. I was somewhat familiar with them, and I told you that if so be I should be elected these were the men that I would get rid of, and I was elected and I did get rid of them. (Applause.)

"Now, ladies and gentlemen, I have no desire, as I say to refer to those people or those men, for the purpose of bringing pain to anybody, but I do want you to remember that when the Republican candidate two years ago said there was corruption in office and said there were unfit men in office and said that they were not rendering the service to the people which the law—voted they should, and which the people expected they should, I told you the men, I told you the instances and I told you the facts.

"Now, then, I have asked my opponent every day, when he talks about corruption and graft and all kinds of things—I don't know very much about what he is saying, but I know some of those things in the papers—I have asked him and ask him now to tell me where, or to tell you where, or to name one single man in the government of this state who, by his conduct, has brought shame or disgrace upon the state, or loss to the state—just one man.

"You need not wait until the seventh of November, you need not wait until the first of January; if you will show me where he is I will get rid of that man now, whether he is a Republican or a Democrat. (Applause.)

"I ask him to name a single one and he is silent as the grave!" The Governor then proceeded to review the departments of the state government for whose heads the executive is responsible, naming the Conservation Commission, the Banking, Insurance, Health, and Agriculture departments, the Civil Service Commission and the Judicial Department to which he has appointed judges, saying that at the coming election the voters would vote for more judges than at any time since the judicial offices were filled following the adoption of the State Constitution. Referring to his appointees, he declared:

"All these men represent the best that there is in public and private life, qualified, able and competent, and until my opponent says more or indicates more than he has done so far, there can be no question raised reflecting upon them. He points to something in the departments but does not say where or give names or instances of a single dereliction in duty.

"I am responsible for all of these men and I am entirely willing to take the responsibility. I am responsible and I am proud to assume the responsibility. When there is wrong doing in any of these you have the right to blame me.

"When there is, on the other hand, a competent and honest discharge of the important duties and the assumption of responsibilities on the part of these officers, then the head of the administration and the men associated with him are entitled to support such as they ask of you today.

"When my opponent makes these vague statements of corruption in the administration I ask him vainly to point to one specific instance of wrongdoing but I'm unable to make any impression on him. He says you have embezzled the labor law; you have deprived labor of the advantage and benefits under the labor law under the permissive direct settlement or advance payment of compensation features. When I became Governor I found the compensation board 6,000 claims behind. That meant if you were a worker and became injured or killed, it might mean weeks, months, years, before you received any compensation whatever. That provision permitting direct settlement is really wicked, says my opponent; whose heart bleeds for labor.

"In reply to this let me read this extract from a statement by a man whose life has been devoted to the cause of labor upon which he is an authority, recognized as such not only in this country but throughout the world. This man says: 'The advance payment feature has also worked a great advantage, especially in the relief of distressing cases, and an employer may now make payment to his injured employee or dependent immediately and from time to time as necessity arises, the employer receiving full credit when an award is made for all advance payments made by him. In thousands of cases such advance payments have brought bread to the mouths of the hungry, saved homes for dependent families, where otherwise there would have been no bread and no home.

"The courageous veto of the omnibus bill to amend the Labor Law during 1916 should never be forgotten by the wage-earner." That statement is by John Mitchell. (Applause.) Against that statement is the clasp of a cheap demagogue who never did anything for labor save when labor questions may have been involved in cases before him in the judiciary. Against his charge I want to place the testimony of a man regarded in this and as the best authority on labor. He is not a Republican. I wish he were.

"What is true of this statement is true of other fallacious arguments advanced by my opponent. For instance, he charges that the governor of this state is making himself a military despot and trying to turn the state into a military camp solely because of legislation which will give to our boys the kind of physical training that I wish you and I could have had years ago. He says it is the object of this law to make our boys blood thirsty, teaching them to love warfare.

"The make-up of that commission will, I think, be sufficient answer. It is true that the major-general, the head of the state militia is a member and will aid in working out the military 'tick-tack' as I call this elementary work. The second member is Dr. John Finley, head of the state education department, who I am sure you will agree with me is not an individual of blood thirsty tendencies, and the third is a man who was in charge of the physical work in the Y. M. C. A. of New York state. Does that sound to you like a blood thirsty set of men?

"The only bill he has referred to is the Stivers bill and my opponent insults the intelligence of the people of this state when he tells them that they do not know its provisions. That law does not create a new situation. It does not add to the powers of the governor in any degree.

"The constitution of the state says that all able bodied male citizens between the ages of 18 and 45 years, who are residents of the state, shall constitute the militia. My friends, if any of you able-bodied men are under 45, you're a soldier! That's the constitution. It has been in the constitution long before we were born and has always been in the constitution of the state of New York.

"Why do you know the Sheriff of Ulster county could call any man in this hall to serve a warrant, to quell a riot or to assist in keeping order in the city of Kingston or elsewhere in the county. Do you think that is conscription?" "Yet my opponent tells you that the governor is going to impress all (Continued on Page 14.)

GERMANS REBUILD BRIDGE ON DANUBE

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Berlin, Oct. 27.—Engineers in the army of Field Marshal von Mackensen in Dobruja have already begun to repair the great Danube bridge at Cernavoda, which was blown up by the retreating Rumanians. Advice from Sofia today state that huge supplies of building materials had been carried along by the von Mackensen army group, for it was accepted as a foregone conclusion that the Rumanians would try to destroy the Cernavoda bridge if they were driven from their bridgehead position.

Rumanian artillery on the western bank of the river is shelling the German bridge builders, but it is being taken under the fire of the heavy German guns which are rapidly being placed in position around the outskirts of Cernavoda.

The pursuit of the retreating Russian force in northern Dobruja continues.

Since the invasion of Dobruja von Mackensen's army has advanced 80 miles into Rumanian territory.

BIG LEAGUES ON VERGE OF A WAR

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, Oct. 27.—The American and National Leagues today are on the verge of warfare.

Right now it seems that nothing can avert a serious clash except an apology from Ban Johnson for his many verbal attacks upon the National League during the past two years. And he never has been known to back down from any stand he has taken.

Johnson's most recent criticism of the older organization concerning the John McGraw incident, aroused John K. Tener to anger and the National League president is quoted as having said:

"Ban Johnson should wash his own dirty linen before he attempts to do any cleaning for the National League. I won't stand for any further criticism from Johnson concerning the operations of my league."

The entire National League, it is said, has backed up Tener in his reply-attack upon Johnson. The magnates of the old league long have been incensed by what they term "Johnson's slurring remarks" and his most recent utterances merely have added fuel to the smoldering fire.

There has been much ill-feeling between the two leagues ever since Federal League days. In that era there often were internal clashes between the two big organizations over the conduct of the warfare to be waged against the "outlaws." Johnson frequently "panned" the National Leaguers openly for their attitude toward the Feds. They did not resent it openly then because affairs then were in too critical a condition to chance a break between the two leagues that were fighting the Feds.

NEWEST ZEPPELIN HIDES IN SMOKE

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Zurich, October 27.—Germany has an entirely new type of Zeppelins. The first one of them has just made its trial flight over Lake Constance, and was watched by large crowds from the Swiss shore.

The new air cruisers are of gigantic size and differ in their shape from the older types. Their form is more slender, with sharp, pointed ends, and instead of three separate gondolas they have only one large one, which is almost as long as the body of the balloon. On a platform on top of the balloon two quickfiring guns and four machine guns are mounted.

The most important features of the new airships are almost noiseless motors and the ability to remain perfectly stationary over a certain point. While manoeuvring over the lake the new Zeppelin repeatedly emitted large clouds of black smoke, which rapidly assumed enormous proportions and hid the airship completely from view. Standing still in the air, the giant dropped many bombs on targets anchored in the lake, scoring a number of hits.

The manoeuvres lasted six hours and seemed to be completely successful. In the evening the Zeppelin returned to Friedrichshaf. Three other airships of the same type are said to be nearly completed and will undoubtedly be used for new raids on London.

Dead in Burning Car.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 27.—A man was burned to death and sixteen other passengers were injured seriously last night when an Illinois traction system car was overturned and caught fire five miles north of Edwardsville, Ill.

WAR AT A GLANCE

The critical zones of war operations are still Rumania and Verluin.

The armies of the German allies driving on Rumania from the north and east have both scored fresh progress, although they are meeting with stern resistance. Von Mackensen's forces that invaded Dobruja have now reached Hirsova, 25 miles north of Cernavoda at the bend of the Danube.

In the Transylvania Alps the Austro-German army that is fighting its way to Campolungo, on the edge of the Rumania plain, has driven back the Russo-Rumanian forces.

Violent fighting is in progress northeast of Verdun. The French attempts to take Fort Vaux have broken down under the furious fire of the Germans, but progress has been scored west and south of the work.

The Germans holding the work are holding out very stubbornly.

The counter-offensive of the Germans in the Carpathians has been met with powerful blows by the Russian and Rumanians. The German attempt to separate the Russian and Rumanian armies has made only slight progress.

Bad weather is hindering operations in Macedonia.

BRIDGE POLITICS? SURE THERE WAS

Three Democratic Administrations Did Nothing but Promise and Talk—Now We are Getting Results.

One of the local Democratic newspapers states:

"With election but eleven days away a flurry is noticed on the construction of the Port Ewen bridge. More men are being put to work temporarily in the hope that the voters in the town of Esopus will forget or overlook the long delay incidental to the work being started."

Playing politics with the bridge? Who's doing such a thing? What is the record?

A bill changing State Highway Route No. 3 so as to provide for the highway being carried across the Rondout creek on a bridge was prepared by the Republican organization of Ulster county and introduced in the assembly by Assemblyman Andrew J. Cook in 1912. Mr. Cook is a Republican and he was elected to the assembly as a Republican. The bill passed and became part of the State Highway Law.

The year 1912 witnessed the election of John A. Dix as governor. Mr. Dix is a Democrat. The same Mr. Dix was elected as a Democrat and he depended in local matters on the advice and suggestions of local Democratic organizations. Governor Dix visited Kingston and in a public address he stated that he had appointed C. Gordon Reel highway commissioner for the purpose of putting through the construction of the Rondout bridge. Mr. Reel is a Democrat. He did nothing.

A hearing, afterwards admitted to be a fake, was held, at which John E. Kraft undertook to speak in a representative capacity. Mr. Kraft is a Democrat. Still nothing happened.

"Honest Bill" Sulzer succeeded Governor Dix as governor. What ever his Prohibition proclivities may have been last summer in seeking the Prohibition nomination for president, "Honest Bill" was then a Democrat and elected as a Democrat. Under his administration the bridge did not advance.

After "Honest Bill" had been bounced from office at the behest of his fellow Democrat, Charles F. Murphy, Martin H. Glynn became governor. Mr. Glynn is a Democrat and was when he went in office and while he remained governor, Glynn did nothing. Neither did his Democratic highway department—so far as the Rondout bridge was concerned, although what Democrats did to express by the phrase—"they did it good and plenty."

Then the people of the Empire State decided it was time to put at the head of the state government a man in whom they had confidence and two years ago they elected Charles S. Whitman, a Republican. Governor Whitman appointed as highway commissioner a man in whom he had confidence—Edwin Duffey, who as district attorney of Cortland county had succeeded in bagging the bagmen who under previous Democratic administrations had held up state road contractors and highway department employees for the benefit of the Democratic dough bag.

Under the administration of Charles S. Whitman as governor and Edwin Duffey as state highway commissioner, plans for the bridge have been completed, bids advertised, contracts awarded and work actually commenced, and in this work these Republican state officials, as everyone knows, have had the indefatigable and hearty co-operation of the Republican organization of Ulster county.

In the years of Democratic administration nothing was accomplished. In two years of Republican administration work has been begun. The record speaks for itself. Comment is unnecessary.

THREE SEPARATE ELECTION BALLOTS

One For Presidential Electors, Another For State and County Candidates and Third For Propositions to Confront Voters.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, Oct. 27.—The ballots for the general election which will occur on Tuesday, November 7, and which will be for national, state and county candidates, have been prepared by the secretary of state. This year there will be three separate ballots. One ballot will contain the names of the state and county candidates, another the names of the presidential electors, while the third will be devoted to the proposed amendment to the State Constitution with reference to the appropriation of $10,000,000 for the purpose of purchasing additional lands for the forest preserves.

The Election Law prescribes the forms of all ballots. With reference to the ballots for general officers, it reads:

"The names of all candidates for any one office shall be printed in a separate section and the sections shall be in the customary order of the places and shall be numbered from one upward by a numeral printed in the upper right hand corner of the section. The names of candidates shall be printed in their appropriate section in such order as the board of elections shall or may direct, precedence, however, being given, except as herein otherwise provided, to the candidate of the party which polled the highest number of votes for governor at the last preceding election, etc."

The ballots for presidential electors shall contain the names of the presidential electors of each party, to be printed in one column to indicate, first, the electors at large, whose names shall be arranged in the alphabetical order of the surnames; second, the electors of each district, whose names shall be arranged in the numerical order of their district.

It is also provided that the columns shall be parallel with each other and shall be separated by heavy black lines. In addition to the party column, a blank column, with lines for writing, shall also be provided in which voters may write the names of candidates for presidential electors not on the ballot, and which shall be sufficient to contain as many names as there are electors to be chosen. It shall be designated as the blank column and shall contain no voting spaces. At the head of each party column shall be printed the party emblem; below this a blank circle three-quarters of an inch in diameter; below this the party name in large type; below this the names of the candidates for president and vice president; and below this a heavy line dividing the heading from the names of the presidential electors, etc.

The form of ballots for questions submitted shall be printed in a separate section, the Election Law reads: "At the left of each question shall appear two voting spaces, one above the other, each at least one-half inch square. At the left of the word 'Yes' and at the left of the lower square shall be printed the word 'No'. On the stub at the top of the ballot shall be printed directions to the voters."

To vote "Yes," it will be necessary to make a cross (x) in the square opposite the word "Yes." To vote in the negative a similar cross must be made in the square opposite the word "No."

VIGNES HAD A NARROW ESCAPE

Hurled From Bicycle Against a Stone Wall—Knocked Unconscious—Accident Occurred on Broadway Hill.

Everett A. Vignes of No. 31 West Chester street had a narrow escape from sustaining a fractured skull when he was hurled from his bicycle against a stone wall. The young man is employed as a clerk in the jewelry store of his father, J. A. Vignes, on the Strand. This morning he started from home on his bicycle for the store. As he passed St. Mary's Church he applied the brake and found it did not work. As the bicycle began to gather speed the young man decided the best thing to do was to turn into Rogers street, expecting that the speed of the machine would be stopped in climbing the hill. The bicycle was traveling at such a fast rate of speed, however, that the young man did not make the turn successfully and the bicycle struck the curb, hurling him off. He was thrown against the stone wall in front of the Dwyer residence and was knocked unconscious. Bystanders picked him up and carried him into the store of Arthur E. Butler at No. 148 Broadway, where Mrs. Butler administered first aid and Dr. C. F. Keeffe was summoned. Mr. Vignes was later able to resume his duties at the store. He escaped with a badly swollen face and a cut ear. The front wheel on the bicycle was wrecked.

Police Court Quiet.

No arrests were made on Thursday by the police and as a result no cases were brought to the attention of Recorder Lang this morning in re-opened at 9:30 and ran until 6 o'clock in the evening.

HUGHES CONFIDENT OF HIS ELECTION

By Telegraph to The Freeman. On Board Special Train Enroute to Utica, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Charles E. Hughes has "cut loose" and struck his stride. He turned westward with new life in his campaign. He gave notice today he is going to keep going at full speed and pounding with sledge hammer force to the last minute of the campaign.

Mr. Hughes is now certain of his election, he says, and he is telling his audiences so. Through the remainder of the trip he is going to talk certainly of success and will devote much of his speech-making to outlining in clear and unmistakable language the sequence in which he proposes to proceed after he gets into the White House—if he does get there.

The governor plans to sweep away the last shadow of doubt in the mind of the country that he has any secret pact with the "hyphenates" during this trip. He is going to talk "Americanism, dominant, unswerving and undivided," ceaselessly until he feels sure he has convinced his audiences of the groundlessness of the Democratic campaign committee's charges of his alliance with the German-American and Irish-Americans.

The governor's quick dash through New England yesterday, winding up at Boston last night, where he pledged himself to be "an American president," has put new courage in the Republican leaders' hearts. The rousing reception the governor received everywhere he spoke swept away their fears that Wilson sentiment was growing in New England, they declared.

AUTOMOBILISTS TO MEET IN NEWBURGH

Many prominent men have been invited to attend the annual convention of the New York State Automobile Association, which will be held in Newburgh November 15 and 16. Among those who are expected to attend are Secretary of State Francis M. Hugo, Highway Commissioner Edwin Duffey, Deputy Highway Commissioner H. Elting Bredt, State Engineer Frank M. Williams and George W. Perkins, chairman of the Palisades Park Commission.

Indications are that the convention will be largely attended by automobilists from all parts of the state. Preparations are already in progress for the entertainment of the visitors. One of the most interesting features of the convention will be a trip to Storm King Mountain where the route of the new scenic highway skirting the western shore of the Hudson above the river will be inspected. The construction of this scenic highway is one of the most difficult engineering feats in road building in the world. The view from the road is unsurpassed.

On the first night of the convention a smoker will be held. A banquet will be held in the Palatine Hotel the second night, and there will be several prominent speakers. The program of the convention is contained in a special guide book of Newburgh, copies of which will be distributed among automobilists throughout the state through hotels and local clubs.

BIDS FOR ROADS IN ULSTER COUNTY

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, Oct. 27.—As the result of the opening of bids for the construction of three roads in Ulster county, two contacting arms from Newburgh submitted low bids, and one from Saugerties, as follows:

Road No. 1418, Milton Landing-Milton, half a mile in length, Harper & Higginson, Inc., only bidder, $14,287.

Road 1465, Ulster Landing-Glasco, two and a fraction miles, C. T. Schoenaght, Saugerties, $34,966. The other bidder was DeGraff & Hogeboom, $37,614.

No proposals were received on road 1464, High Falls-Stone Ridge, Ulster county.

Verdict For Abernethy. Abel Abernethy was awarded a verdict of $75 late Thursday afternoon in his case against A. H. Chambers. The action was brought to recover for damages to an old E. M. F. automobile which Abernethy owned and tried to trade with Archer for a horse. When the jury brought in their verdict Judge Hasbrouck dismissed the jurors for the balance of the term of court. During the past three weeks of court a large number of cases have been disposed of and in order to clean up the calendar court has repeatedly opened at 9:30 and ran until 6 o'clock in the evening.

KINGSTON, N. Y., OCT. 27, 1916.

The clearheadedness and sanity with which political issues are expounded by William M. Calder, Republican candidate for United States Senator, cannot but awaken the admiration and enlist the whole-souled support of his fellow citizens of the Empire State. The greatest need of this great country of ours at the present time, he declares, is preparedness for peace. Thoughtful citizens generally are aware of the fact that the European war is responsible for prosperity in certain lines of manufacture and shipping. They are equally well aware that the obvious menace to our industrial welfare is due to make itself felt on these shores at the conclusion of peace. It is then that, under the present Underwood near-free-trade measure, this country would come into direct competition with European labor brought to the highest state of efficiency by government co-operation. The world knows that the battles are being won in this war by the men and women laboring in the munitions plants, where a military discipline is in effect, making possible production on a scale undreamed of before the war. It is upon this patriotism of the workers that these same nations are relying for ultimate victory in the great trade war destined to succeed the present bloody drama on the stage of world affairs. Unless there is a scientific adjustment of our tariff on a basis of protection for the American wage-earner, who cannot lower his standard of living to the European level, untold hardships will be inflicted upon American industries and American labor. It is only through a protective tariff policy that the difference in conditions can be equalized and this country be placed in a position to realize to the utmost the opportunity which the whole world will be seeking to grasp once peace is restored and trade again becomes the goal of international endeavor.

Following a straight course toward duty is one of the greatest achievements possible for any man in public office. To a record so marked should be added high ability to perform the work, unquestioned integrity and well balanced judgment to make an official whose qualifications are beyond discussion. Add experience that has proved invaluable and ability and willingness to oblige so long as duty is not thereby violated, and the man who possesses all these qualifications becomes the ideal public servant. All these good qualities—and more—are combined in the present district attorney of Ulster county—Frederick C. Traver, whose personal campaign is being conducted with the innate modesty characteristic of that official, but whose friends had no hesitation in singing his well-merited praises. A man is judged by his friends, and for that reason it is interesting to look over the list of those who since Mr. Traver's appointment by Governor Whitman as district attorney of Ulster county have been most active in his canvass. The friends are made up of men from all parts of the county, irrespective of politics, who have followed with care the work which he has been doing for the past sixteen years. Conscientious, able, painstaking, courageous, just, faithful to duty whether it be big or small, Mr. Traver has created for himself in the minds and hearts of the people of Ulster county a place which he alone can fill. The important office to which he has been nominated and now fills by appointment is not a stranger to him, the work which the people desire to have performed well is the work to which he has devoted the best years of his life, and the satisfaction of having the record maintained can be obtained by the public only as each individual casts partisanship aside and votes for him on Election Day. Having his record before them, the public can be depended on to obtain that satisfaction which comes with the knowledge of duty well done.

A capable, competent and independent judiciary is one of the bulwarks of American liberty and in the selection of our judges the voter is called on to exercise the utmost care and discrimination. In the selection of Wesley O. Howard and Charles E. Nichols, the Republican party presents to the people of Ulster County a pair of judges who are well known to the community.

Geo. Hauck & Son

have been nominated. Judge Howard has received the endorsement of every county bar association in the district and of a number of bar associations of other counties, and his high character and attainments made him the choice of all the other parties except the Socialists, so that his valuable services have been and will continue to be recognized by men of the district irrespective of political lines. In the selection of Mr. Nichols, the Republican party also nominated a man measuring up to the high standards maintained for Supreme Court Justices. Experienced as a lawyer, with a wide reputation for his thorough knowledge of the law, having had many years' active work in the trial of cases, Mr. Nichols' connection gives satisfaction as a man, and his selection from the county of Schoharie is just recognition of the claims of that county, whose lawyers, except during trial terms, are required to travel either to Binghamton, Albany or Kingston to transact their court work. Both Judge Howard and Mr. Nichols possess the judicial temperament, there is the strongest kind of demand from lawyers for their election and their well-earned reputation for ability, integrity and learning particularly qualifies them for the high offices to which they have been nominated.

One of Chain of Stores to be Opened in Kingston.

Dutton who, until the store on Fair street is opened, is conducting the business from his home, 96 Maiden Lane. The company already has stores in Poughkeepsie and also in Ithaca, the store in Poughkeepsie having been opened last May. The company plans to have a co-operative concern, the motorists being the stockholders and the business operated upon that successful plan of a chain of stores in different cities. Connected with the company at present are E. D. Creswell, president; John Chamberlain of Poughkeepsie, vice president; Clifford Johnston of Ithaca, secretary; George Davis of Poughkeepsie, treasurer; and Judge Willard Kent. LITTLE LAUGH.

"How's business, old man? Been making anything lately?" "Yes—an assignment."—Boston Transcript.

"The world is full of poetry," exclaimed the Optimist. "Yes, I dare say there is almost as much poetry in the rest of the world as there is in the waste basket," added the pessimist.—Judge.

"Every man is entitled to his own opinion." "Yes," replied Senator Sorghum; "but he shouldn't be encouraged to express it in a way that constitutes it a public nuisance."—Washington Star.

"Have you studied the plays of Sophocles?" asked the serious young woman. "Quit joking," replied Mr. Lowbrow. "I know everybody in both leagues. There ain't any such player."—Washington Star.

"You say my husband needs exercise, but he won't take any, and I don't know how to make him," said a woman plaintively. "Is there any way in which we can force him to exercise?" "Did you ever try, on windy days, making him wear a hat that will be sure to blow off?" asked the doctor.—Buffalo Express.

Landlord Logic.

Professor Oscar Browning, whose new book, "A History of the Modern World," was published some time ago, tells a story of one of his early Alpine tours. He put up at a miserable little inn at a place called Pejo, where the accommodation and food were very rough and ready.

When he was leaving, Mr. Browning asked for his bill. When it came he found it amounted to about $7, and included separate charges for such things as pepper and salt and mustard.

Mr. Browning expostulated with the landlord on his extortion, telling him that nobody would come to his inn if he charged like that. "I thought the matter over," the landlord replied, "and I have come to the conclusion that as nobody is ever likely to come in any case, I may as well charge well when I have the opportunity."—All Around Magazine.

Solved the Problem.

John was the new boy at the boarding house. His mistress was scolding him because he never surmounted an obstacle.

"John," she said, "when I sent you for a two pound loaf of cake and they had none, why in the world didn't you bring two one pound cakes? This would be exactly the same thing."

John seemed to grasp the knowledge. His mistress thought so until the next day.

She was going on a journey and, being a large, stout woman, told John to engage her two seats in the bus. When John returned she asked:

"Did you have any difficulty?" "No, madam," replied the hopeless John, "but I could not get them both together, so I got one in the inside and one on the top!"—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Menial But Profitable.

Day and several of the guests were leaving the seashore hotel.

"You folk going this morning?" asked the waitress and immediately all the guests dug down. One of them entered into conversation with the waitress, who was folding up her dollar bills. "Are you a waitress in the winter time?" asked the guest.

"No, indeed," replied the waitress, smoothing with loving care an old greenback. "I live in New York. I own three private houses."

"Do you own one private house?" asked the guests of each other as they grabbed up their bags and left.

"No, indeed," replied the guests to each other as they doubled up to enter the hack.—Newark News.

If you were elected Governor of New York State and found that three of your predecessors had allowed the business of the State to become disorganized, had failed to provide money enough to meet the State's honest debts, and had permitted waste and extravagance to creep into its important departments, Wouldn't you consider it a man-sized job just to put the State back on a businesslike basis?

That is exactly the situation that Governor Whitman and your other elective State officers faced when they took office January 1, 1915.

They have made good as efficient State officers by making a record to be proud of in constructive government.

A few of the quiet victories for good government won in the past two years are:

Finances. Reform in State finances that once more places the affairs of the State on a sensible, pay-as-you-go basis, rather than on a haphazard one.

Highways. Improvement in the Highway System so that the State may properly develop its roads in a more systematic and economical manner.

Natural Resources. Constructive measures for the conservation of the State's natural resources that safeguard the interests of all the people of the State in their forests and streams.

Appointments. Appointment to office of men of the highest character and ability who have given the State full value in service in return for their salaries.

Preparedness. A prompt and businesslike contribution to State and National preparedness that makes the Empire State a leader in this important matter.

Industries. Reorganization and strengthening of the State Industrial Commission, the sole duty of which is to protect the working men and women of the State.

Agriculture. Reorganization and improvement in the work of the Department of Agriculture, which is of such great importance to producer and consumer alike.

Health. Vigorous support of the vitally necessary work carried on by the State Health Department.

Civil Service. Reorganization of the State Civil Service Commission and active championship of Civil Service reform so that merit is now a first consideration in filling offices.

Tax Reform. Rebuilding of the State Tax Department and development of important tax reforms.

Prison Reform. Aggressive work for the better care of the insane and constructive measures in support of the necessary and far-reaching Prison Reform.

Election Reform. Reforms in the State Election Department and many other constructive measures for the better management of the State's affairs.

Do not these achievements furnish a striking and pleasing contrast to the deplorable conditions of three years ago when scandal, indictments and an impeachment were part of the record of your State government?

The present administration deserves your support at the polls no matter what your "politics" may be. Vote the Entire Republican Ticket for Local, State and National Efficiency.

AN IMPOSITION.

Telephone Patrons Annoyed Because of Those Who do Not Pay.

Editor, The Freeman: Realizing and appreciating the ability of the press to throw light on many subjects whereon the lay reader has no accurate information, I am asking for some such information regarding what is supposed to be one of our "public service" institutions, the telephone system. At present rates it is quite impossible for every subscriber to have a "private" line, and in our cities there are two, three and sometimes four and five party lines. It is a well-known established custom of the telephone company to demand payment of their bills not later than the tenth of the current month, making the payment partly in advance. This every subscriber knows. Yet, if any one of the subscribers on the party lines fails to pay his or her bill by the set time, every other subscriber on that line is put to the annoyance of giving his or her party letter whenever sending in a call. Where a telephone is really used and that for business purposes, this is indeed an annoyance and that to the party who has paid their bill. Would any such "system" be permitted in any other line of business? And is there any redress from such annoyance?

Hoping for some light on the subject and thanking you for the space occupied by this letter,

I am,
Yours very truly,
SUBSCRIBER TO FREEMAN AND TELEPHONE.

ART EXHIBIT AT WILTWYCK INN

There was a notable gathering of the patrons and lovers of art of this city at Wiltwyck Inn on Thursday afternoon, when the exhibit of paintings by Dewing, Woodward and Louise Johnson, heads of the Blue Dome Fellowship of Shady, Ulster county, was opened for the press and private inspection. Besides the patrons and patronesses here in Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Poulney Bigelow, Admiral and Mrs. Goodrich and Mrs. Sayre motored from Yama Farms to attend the exhibit.

At this is the first real art exhibit held in Kingston during the memory of this generation, no Freeman reporter is adequately trained to give a technical criticism—and probably no one would care to read it if they were. However, the following impressions of some of the more striking works will, it is hoped, sufficiently interest the public so that the exhibit will be viewed by a large number of people during the afternoons for the coming fortnight.

First there is the exhibit as a whole, as it impresses the entering visitor. A welcome as of warm sunshine greets the eye, for the side walls of the hall have been hung in a soft orange shaded drapery, widely banded at the bottom with a restful deep blue. Against this background the portraits and paintings stand forth like gems. Long tables covered with the dark blue runners, hold portfolios of fascinating portrait work and masses of white cosmos and hardy anemones deep blue sage and autumn foliage bring into the midst of the scene a charming bit of real outdoor life. Here and there a face smiles from a draped easel. While all of the portraits make one feel that it would be a pleasant and privilege to know the originals, some show a greater charm of personality than others. In fact it is that very thing, personality, that breathes from every canvas, and one feels instinctively that though the sitters are unknown the portraits are rarely true to life.

One would recognize at once, a soul attuned to beauty in the dreamy portrait of Birge Harrison. The arm outstretched in sweeping gesture was captured in its grace of movement by the artist. Koen kindly sensitive yet strong and rugged in the lines of matured manhood the face of Hervey White peers intently at one from a canvas which is full of the suggestion of the man tall of stature and deep of spirit.

Very different and equally fascinating is the threefold portrait of Mrs. Le each pose perfect in its individual characteristic and all portraying a woman with rare poise of mind and body and with beautiful features.

Threefold presentation has plainly caught that bit of humanity in the young woman posing which would relieve the tedium of hard to be appreciated perfection. Still another head (a young woman) possesses such a color and glow of pose and outline as to suggest the Marble Faun in gilded guise. These and the many many more portraits of children of men and women are vastly more than likenesses they are the captured revelations of the personalities of the posed. Nor may one overlook the originality and appropriateness of the marginal decorations.

Among the other paintings "The Pool" brings to mind Chet White's descriptive phrase "What seems at first glance a pile of jewels on the rock reflecting marbled spectrum colors in the sunshine" with the added charm of a graceful human figure. Then there is an exquisite woodland scene with a young girl in leaf and ivy and a deer in a dancing temple whose beauty of form is the perfection of the Creator's noblest handiwork. "Whispering Ditches" shows the strength and warmth of the woodland together with its grace.

But after all trying to describe any art in the terms of some other medium is always inadequate and disappointing and the only way to truly enjoy this exhibit is to visit Wiltwyck Inn and afternoon for the present and become acquainted both with the artists and their works.

TOPICS NEW YORK IS TALKING ABOUT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 27.—New evidence of Woodrow Wilson's deep seated hostility to organized labor has just come to light, in the form of a letter which Dr. Wilson wrote reaffirming and defending the severe and unjust attack on union labor in his baccalaureate sermon at Princeton in that sermon, Dr. Wilson said "You know what the usual standard of the employee is in our day. It is to give as little as he may for his wages. Labor is standardized by the trades unions, and this is the standard to which it is made to conform. No one is suffered to do more than the average workman can do. In some trades and handicrafts, no one is suffered to do more than the least skillful of his fellows can do within the hours allotted to a day's labor, and no one may work out of hours at all or volunteer anything beyond the minimum." Regarding this assertion, and more of the same character, Edgar R. Lavery, member of a New York trade union, wrote Dr. Wilson asking his authority for such statements. June 18, 1909, Dr. Wilson replied to Mr. Lavery saying he had no particular trade unions in mind, but that he did have in mind "several cases of buildings in New York city, for example, the bricklayers working on which spent about one-third of the working day sitting around, smoking their pipes and chatting, because they had laid the number of bricks to which they were limited for the day by the union to which they belonged." Dr. Wilson recited the case of a friend who on a cold night could not get a pane of glass replaced because it was after the hours prescribed by the union, and he concluded, "I, of course could not, in the case of more than one or two of these instances, give legal proof of my assertions but the evidences I have are entirely sufficient to convince me of the general truth of the statement I made." It is Dr. Wilson's labor views which have won for him the enthusiastic and persistent support of Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard.

Naker Suppresses Facts.

Reports of conditions attending the mobilization of the National Guard on the Mexican frontier, which reports reveal a scandal of grave proportions, are being deliberately suppressed by Secretary Baker, according to army officers familiar with the facts. Ultimately, of course, these reports will become public but everyone who has knowledge of the conditions has been forbidden to discuss them until after election. Scandal in connection with quartermaster supplies, startling discrepancies between the paper strength and the actual strength of the militia organizations, almost total failure of the southern states to recruit their organizations up to any where near the minimum was strength, with the result that the commands they have sent forward after being allowed three months to recruit, are so small as to be practically worthless, and similar details are being determinedly suppressed. The purpose of this concealment is, presumably, to prevent the voters from learning what an abject failure the Hay army bill has proved until after November 7.

"Life Magazine."

The fate of any National Guardsman who dares to tell the truth, when the truth reflects on the Wilson administration, is strikingly shown by the arrest and imprisonment of Frank Gorey, corporal in the Federalized National Guard Aero Company of New York. Gorey has been much scandalized in connection with this aero company, and finally Gorey was so incautious as to state some of the facts to a newspaper reporter. He explained to a representative of the New York Sun that he and his comrades had been woefully deceived, that they had been led to join the aero company on the representation that they would be taught aviation, that they had been kept for weeks without any opportunity to learn aviation, and had been informed by a regular army officer that their chances of learning it were "mighty slim." Twenty-two of Gorey's comrades, who were present when he gave the interview, gave their names to the Sun man and affirmed the accuracy of his statements. Immediately the interview appeared in print and was seen to reflect on the Wilson administration. Lieut. Joseph E. Carberry, U. S. A. presumably acting on instructions from Washington, caused the arrest of Gorey and he is confined to the guardhouse on the charge of violating section 62 of the Articles of War, which section deals with "military military principles and discipline." It is generally believed that an example of Gorey is being made in order to frighten any other National guardsman from telling the truth regarding the mobilization of the National Guard scandals, both in home camps and on the border, and the lamentable failure of the Hay army bill.

War With Santo Domingo.

The killing of two United States marine officers in a battle in Santo Domingo with which republic this country has been at war for many months, has leaked through the strict military censorship which the Wilson administration has been able to throw about its military operations in Santo Domingo. The war with Santo Domingo began on May 6. More than 300 Santo Domingans have been killed and probably a fourth as many Americans, although the administration has succeeded in concealing the facts except when officers have been killed.

Would Corner Raw Material.

That a determined effort to corner raw materials, to buy in foreign markets only raw materials and to export only manufactured products will constitute the chief feature of the commercial alliance formed by the European allies at the Paris conference, has become evident to those who have been studying the agreement there reached and watching its development. Article III of the agreement reads, "The Allies declare themselves agreed to conserve to the allied countries, before all others, their natural resources during the whole period of commercial, industrial, agricultural and maritime reconstruction, and for this purpose they undertake to establish special arrangements to facilitate the interchange of these resources." In the development of this scheme, although the war is not yet ended, the allies have begun the policy of imposing serious restrictions on the exportation to this country and other neutrals any raw material. American importers in order to procure permission to bring out any kind of raw material must, even now, fill out and file fourteen different forms, the purpose being to prevent the exportation of any raw material which will enter into the manufacture of goods designed for the export trade of the United States, except when such goods are in the nature of military supplies which one or other of the allied countries may need. Those who were disposed to regard the "war after war" with the greatest skepticism and who have become acquainted with the facts realize that such a commercial war is absolutely certain.

Democratic Rainbow Chasing.

The persistent efforts of Chairman McCormick to create the impression that Woodrow Wilson is leading Charles E. Hughes and that the president stands a fair chance of re-election have failed signally. From every section of the country come reports which disprove the Democratic contentions. There will be a landslide which will elect Mr. Hughes as president and relegate Woodrow Wilson to the category of "has-beens." That the Democratic claims are not made in sincerity is proved to any thoughtful person by the fact that they include Pennsylvania and New York, both of which states will roll up tremendous majorities for Governor Hughes. In Ohio, where the Adamson bill made some votes for Mr. Wilson, now that it is coming to be understood by the labor men, the tide has turned and experts on political conditions in that state insist that it will give its 24 electoral votes to Hughes by a very substantial majority.

HEAVY CALENDAR IN COURT OF CLAIMS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 27.—In an endeavor to dispose of a considerable number of cases, the judges of the state court of claims will sit in the city of Syracuse on Wednesday, November 8, for a term which will very likely extend for a number of weeks.

When the court of claims last sat in Syracuse it was unable to dispose of all of the claims upon the calendar, which was made up for that term, and as a consequence, a number of these claims or cases appear upon the calendar prepared for the coming term.

There are over three hundred cases upon the calendar which will be taken up November 8. Millions of dollars are involved, some of the claims being for over half a million of dollars.

Although a number of claims have been disposed of since the law which changed the name of the body which in the past has had to deal and adjudicate the damages claimed against the state for divers reasons, the volume of business has been so pronounced as to make it practically impossible to hear the evidence in the hundreds of matters awaiting settlement which have been brought before it.

There remain many cases of damage for the permanent appropriation of land for the barge canal, notwithstanding the fact that that inland waterway is now practically completed. There are also a large number of claims based upon the overflow of dams, leakage of the canal, personal injuries alleged to have been sustained and riparian rights.

Former Assemblyman John W. Burnett of Schuyler county has a claim upon the calendar to be taken up at the coming term of the court of claims amounting to $19,275.67. It is based upon a highway contract.

Former State Superintendent of Public Works Duncan W. Peck of Syracuse has two claims upon the calendar. One is for $1,500 based upon the permanent appropriation of land for the barge canal, while the other is for $5,560 for the overflow of the canal.

There are numerous claims for riparian rights which are the largest on the calendar. Among these claims are the following: Frederick A. Gage, Fulton, $209,735, Volney Paper Company, Fulton, $374,450, Hunter Arms Company, Fulton, $156,655, the Oswego Canal Company, Oswego, $40,000, the Minetto-Meridan Company et al., Oswego and Volney, $1,287,833, the city of Oswego has a claim for $3,150,500 based upon riparian rights also.

Other large claims are based upon the permanent appropriation of land. Under this head a claim for $1,002,000, filed by the city of Oswego, is pending. Other claims based upon the same allegations and substantial in amounts, follow. The Oswego & Syracuse Railroad Company, appropriation of a bridge in Baldwinsville, Onondaga county, $88,750, the National Starch Company, Oswego, $53,000, the Salt Springs Solar Coarse Salt Company, Syracuse, two claims of $455,000 and $290,000, respectively, the Salina Coarse Salt Company, Syracuse, $223,000 and the Empire Coarse Salt Company, Syracuse, $50,000.

James Stewart & Company, barge canal contractors, have a claim on the calendar for $1,420,261.31, based upon an alleged broken barge canal contract in Onondaga and Cayuga counties.

One of the smallest claims, $70, was filed by a resident of Onondaga county.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH RENEWS PROTEST

The vestry, rector and people of St. John's Episcopal Church are by no means calmly quiescent in the matter of the operating of a theatre directly next to their church property on Wall street by the Cohen Theatre Company, as will be seen by the following communication, which has been sent to the clerk of the common council by him to be presented to the committee on laws and rules, which is expected to present its report on the matter at the meeting of the common council next Tuesday night:

"It has been a great surprise to us to find that there is no city ordinance at the present time to protect church assemblages in their religious worship. 'Surely a theatre located as close to St. John's Church as the proposed Cohen Theatre is to be placed, as shown by the tentative blue prints presented at the last committee hearing (with but 14 feet between the side walls of the adjoining buildings and 16 feet between the rear wall of the theatre and the rear wall of the altar of the church) would make the worst possible interruption of the church service. The ordinary services of the church at such times as when the windows of the church and the theatre had to be open would be pitifully interrupted and a burial service impossible.

"It hardly seems that you, gentlemen of the common council, could fail to appreciate the seriousness of this situation, which will arise if you do not protect the religious feelings of the seven to eight thousand men and women in the various religious bodies of this community from so great an injury and insult. Their priests, pastors and rectors have appealed to you, and as citizens, we appeal to the civic pride of you men of the common council not to forget that part which the church plays in the life of every community. It has a necessary and distinct function and it must do its work, unhampered.

"The city of Newburgh has passed the following ordinance: 'It is ordained that no license shall be issued in the city of Newburgh, county of Orange, state of New York, to any dance hall, concert hall, theatre, museum, skating rink, kinetoscope, moving picture performance or any other form of public entertainment or amusement within 200 feet of a building occupied exclusively as a church or school house. Nothing, however, in this ordinance contained shall be construed to abrogate, annul, or prevent the renewal of any existing license now in force in the said city of Newburgh.'

"The right to pass an ordinance of this character is given to your body in the city charter. The law on this matter has been carefully examined and we have been advised that it is perfectly within your rights as conferred on you by the city charter to pass an ordinance similar to that passed by the city of Newburgh. 'We trust that it may be your pleasure to display a civic pride equal to that of our neighbors and that it may result in the passage of an ordinance such as we have requested.' This document is signed by the members of St. John's vestry, and will doubtless receive the consideration due it from both the rules and law committee and the full body of the common council.

A number of friends of L. D. Christiansa gave him a surprise on Thursday evening, it being his 74th birthday. Some very fine violin music was rendered by some of the guests present, after which a nice luncheon was served. In the early hours of the morning they all departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Christiansa many happy returns of the day.

ESOPUS.

Esopus, Oct. 26.—The ladies of the Methodist Church are busy preparing for the annual fair to be held in Elmore Hall on Thursday and Friday evenings, November 9 and 10. A good supper will be served each evening, and after partaking of this it will be a pleasing pastime to listen to the seven young ladies who will give an entertainment entitled, "The Peak Sisters" on Thursday evening and to the seven men who will render "The Millionaire Janitor" on Friday evening.

Yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Alfred Terpening quite a number of the members of the Ladies' Aid Society met to discuss some important questions pertaining to the coming fair and also to enjoy the social hour, which is a pleasing culmination to the business session.

Friends of Miss Viva Freer will be glad to learn that there has been a slight improvement in her condition during the past twenty-four hours.

W. W. Donaldson of West Esopus recently purchased a Ford touring car of Peter Mott.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Coutant of Highland were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Terpening on Sunday last.

Much excitement prevailed on Monday evening when a fire was discovered at what seemed a point very near here. But it was found to be on the east bank of the river. When first seen it was raging furiously and although some crossed the river in a large rowboat nothing could be done to quench the flames. The house was unoccupied and is owned by the Landon family who now reside in France. Your correspondent is not positive, but is of the opinion, that it is the place which formerly was called "Placencia" and was the home of James K. Paulding, a noted literary man, in 1860.

Miss Amy F. Smith has returned to her home in New York city, after spending the last two months with Miss Mae Rennie.

Upon arising Monday morning the people of this section beheld the heaviest frost of the season. The meadows had the appearance of a slight snowstorm, and vegetation everywhere now shows the effect of Jack Frost's visit.

A Quick Reply. The Duchess of Lauraguais, who was somewhat given to making poetry, could not think of a word to rhyme with colf. Turning to Talleyrand, who chanced to be by her side, she said, "Prince, give me a rhyme to colf." "Impossible, duchess," replied Talleyrand without a moment's delay. WHAT IS A CONCERTMEISTER?

Some of the Duties of a Man Second in Command of an Orchestra.
A good many of the interesting things about a great symphony orchestra have been made understandable to the layman through books that have been written on the subject. But people are still asking each other a few questions, which evidently have not yet been cleared up. For example, one of them is, "Do you know what the concertmeister in a symphony orchestra is?"
The concertmeister is primarily the leader of the first violins of the orchestra, although his understanding of the work in hand is supposed to be second only to that of the conductor. In fact, if, through oversight or error, any instrument should fail to bring in an important theme or entrance the concertmeister must have sufficient knowledge of the score to immediately take up the missing voice. Before each performance or rehearsal he may be seen giving all of the violins, violas, cellos and basses his A, the pitch, which he takes, in turn from the tuning fork. When a tuning fork is not used the concertmeister takes his pitch from the oboe. The oboe is almost universally used for this purpose because it is one of the least variable of the wind instruments.
The concertmeister is always a soloist. His contract usually calls for a certain number of solo appearances during the season. He is, next to the conductor himself, the most important member of a symphony orchestra, and the conductor must be able to place absolute confidence in the musicianship and routine qualities of his concertmeister.
The New York Philharmonic Orchestra, the oldest orchestral organization in America, which our readers will hear in the course of the season, has for its concertmeister Maximilian Pilzer, one of the youngest musicians in America. Mr. Pilzer studied here and abroad under Joachim. He made his professional debut while still in "knickerbockers." Today, at the age of twenty-six, he is in his third season as concertmeister of one of the foremost musical organizations in the world.

TED MEREDITH
YANKEE ATHLETIC VICTORS IN NORWAY.

Christiana, Norway, Oct. 25—
"Ted" Meredith, Joe Loomis, Andy Ward and others of the American athletes here are popular heroes today, as a result of their excellent showing against their formidable Scandinavian rivals. At first the visitors appeared to be slightly handicapped by the freezing temperature and the frozen ground, but as soon as they became acclimated results were different.
Meredith particularly distinguished himself by winning the 400 metre run (437 yards 16 inches) covering the ground in 50 1-10 seconds. Andy Ward, National American sprint champion took the 200 metre run in 22 seconds and Joe Loomis, he of the "seven foot stride," defeated Kullerstedt, the Swede, making six feet in the running high jump. Altogether it was a general victory for the Americans.

DAYLIGHT ROBBERY ON PINE STREET

Vernon Huston reported to the police on Thursday evening that the residence of his mother, Mrs. E. K. Huston, at No. 34 South Pine street, had been entered and ransacked on Thursday afternoon between 1 and 3:30 o'clock. An investigation disclosed that $8 in money had been stolen from a bureau upstairs. It is presumed that entrance to the house was secured through a cellar window. It would not be at all surprising if the robbery was committed by the gas meter thief who is working in various parts of the city.

Plans for the erection in Newburgh of a factory for the manufacture of toys are under way, and it is anticipated that within a short time work will be begun. GERMAN RAID IN ENGLISH CHANNEL

Loss Two Destroyers While British Lose Two Destroyers and a Transport—Running Battle in Severe Storm.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Oct. 27.—The first open sea fight since the Jutland battle was fought in the English Channel last night between German and British "mosquito flotillas" when ten German destroyers, bent upon raising havoc among the British cross-channel service and troop transports, were engaged by British destroyers. A spectacular running battle ensued, the result of which preliminary reports issued today by the admiralty were as follows:

German losses—Two destroyers sunk.
British losses—Destroyer Flirt missing. Nine men saved. Destroyer Nubian disabled and later sank while being towed in.

Transport Queen, carrying no troops, sunk. Crew saved.
The raid was the first attempted by German naval forces in such strength since the outbreak of the war. It was designed primarily, it is believed, to hinder the moving of British reinforcements to the Somme front.

The channel was swept by a violent storm and the sea was high while the engagement was fought. The destroyer Nubian, Commander Montagu Barnard, was disabled and listing heavily when taken into tow by a rescue vessel. So terrific was the gale, however, that the tow was cut and the destroyer subsequently sank. The fate of the crew is not known.

Commander R. T. Kellett of the Flirt and all except the nine rescued men are believed to have been drowned.

The Nubian was a unit of the "C" class and the Flirt of the "D" class. The former carried a crew of 71 men and the latter of 62. The Nubian was 280 feet long and 26 feet in the beam and displaced 955 tons. She was armed with two 4-inch guns and two 12-inch torpedo tubes. The Flirt was 215 feet long, 20 feet in the beam and displaced 380 tons. She was armed with one 12-pounder, five 6-pounders and two 18-inch torpedo tubes.

50 LIVES LOST IN HOSPITAL FIRE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Farrham, Que., Oct. 27.—It is now believed that between 40 and 50 persons lost their lives in the burning of St. Elizabeth Hospital instead of 19 as reported last night.

Between 20 and 30 persons, mostly aged inmates of the institution, were caught by falling walls.

The heroine of the fire is Sister Benoit, one of the nuns in charge of the hospital. She saved 45 lives at the risk of her own. While the flames were raging about her she stood at one of the windows passing children out of the building to the firemen.

William Sifton, a 14-year-old boy, saved six little children by carrying them from the burning building on his shoulders.

Incendiarism is now suspected for three more fires broke out last night. Damage to the hospital is estimated at $135,000.

WILTWYCK HOSE ENJOYS A BANQUET

The members of Wiltwyck Hose Company gathered last evening at the Hotel Fichler and enjoyed one of the greatest banquets ever served in Kingston. The members turned out with the intention of having a good time and enjoying a good banquet and judging from the words of praise heard after the feast the purpose was accomplished.

Thomas A. Edmonston presided as toastmaster and a better toastmaster it would be hard to find. The first speaker introduced by Mr. Edmonston was Supervisor Charles A. Schermerhorn, one of the oldest members of the Kingston fire department. Mr. Schermerhorn gave a very interesting talk on the fire ladders of old when they were compelled to drag their hand apparatus over the rough streets and down country lanes which now are finely paved streets and where an automobile apparatus now responds. Mr. Schermerhorn's activities as a fireman are now bordering closely upon the half century mark and many an interesting thing was told of the old fire department.

A brief history of the Saugerties fire department, past present and future was given by Harry T. Keeney and Mr. Russell of Saugerties. The Saugerties people are proud of their fire department and according to the speakers of last evening it will be but a short time before modern motor apparatus will be installed in that department.

During the evening music was furnished and some of the members were called upon to furnish vocal additions to the program to which several who are gifted with musical voices.

Beside the out of town speakers several local members responded to requests for entertaining speeches among them being Harry Walker, Frank Flannagan, Joseph Byer, George J. Schryver, C. T. Bennett, William Newkirk, Meyer Kaplan, Virgil Everett, Fred Dressler and William Martin.

The banquet of Thursday evening was undoubtedly one of the most successful affairs ever enjoyed by the members of Wiltwyck Hose and the members are already looking forward to the next feast.

Straw Vote of Firemen.

Seventy Kingstonians went from Kingston to Newburgh Thursday night to attend the presentation of the photographs of old members of Chapman Steamship Company to that company by the Central Hook and Ladder Company of this city. On the way home a straw vote on presidential preference was taken in one of the coaches. Not all the Kingstonians were in one coach, but among those who were the vote resulted: Hughes, 21. The balance of the votes were scattering of complimentary to members of the party.

While two vehement Democratic talkers talked from an automobile under the auspices of the Young Men's Democratic League in front of the Stuyvesant Hotel at noon today, a majority of the Democratic and Republican candidates, with their respective state committee men, posed for a picture on the opposite corner, while inside the Stuyvesant dining room the usual large number of regular and transient guests enjoyed a sumptuous repast. The comparative size of the three groups is indicated in the order above named.

It's the Big Dance.

There will be a concert and dance by McNelly's, the big singing orchestra, at the armory on Wednesday, November 1. Their concert includes besides the ordinary orchestra numbers, the latest in trombone, flute, piccolo, cornet, and xylophone solos. The vocal solos of E. J. McNelly and the descriptive numbers are catchy features. This orchestra plays every night during the season, appearing only in the larger cities in the east and their popularity is shown by the always larger attendance wherever they appear. You will always hear the latest hits for the dance pieces played in correct time and with a vim which keeps everybody moving and in good humor. Concert 8 to 9. Dancing 9 to 12.

ONE WAY TO PAY.

How the Artist Raphael Settled His Bill at an Inn.

Raphael, the great Italian painter, whose celebrated Biblical pictures are worth fabulous sums of money, was not a rich man when young and encountered some of the vicissitudes of life like many another genius.

Once when traveling he put up at an inn and remained there, unable to get away through lack of funds to settle his bill. The landlord grew suspicious that such was the case, and his requests for a settlement grew more and more pressing. Finally young Raphael in desperation resorted to the following device:

He carefully painted upon a table top in his room a number of gold coins, and, placing the table in a certain light that gave a startling effect, he packed his few belongings and summoned his host.

"There," he exclaimed, with a lordly wave of his hand toward the table, "is enough to settle my bill and more. Now kindly show the way to the door."

The innkeeper, with many smiles and bows, ushered his guest out and then hastened back to gather up his gold.

His rage and consternation when he discovered the fraud knew no bounds until a wealthy English traveler, recognizing the value of the art put in the work, gladly paid him $50 for the table.

GUNS OF THE DEAD. THE BIVOUAC OF THE DEAD.

Everyone of these guns represents a dead soldier. They were gathered up on one of the many Somme battlefields, following a particularly fierce engagement. The dead were removed by the British and their guns stacked in the manner shown in the picture, later to be resused to new regiments or used to re-equip veterans.

FIGHTING RESUMED AT CHIHUAHUA

By Telegram to The Freeman.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 27.—Fighting has been resumed on the outskirts of Chihuahua City between de facto troops and Villistas supplied with ammunition captured in the Palomas victory. This information was contained in official dispatches received today by government agents to General Funston through General Bell at El Paso.

The resumption of fighting about Chihuahua has not been officially admitted by the de facto government heads. The last word from Chihuahua City was that the Constitutionalist troops were effecting an encircling movement around the Villistas at Santa Isabel.

Refugees declare the city has not been actually evacuated, but that when they left it was practically helpless in face of anything like a strong attack. Copies of El Democrata, Carranzista newspaper of Chihuahua which reached here today, confirmed Villa's victory at Palomas.

It is reported from Juarez that General Francisco Maycotte has arrived in Chihuahua state with 2,000 men, brought from the Torreon district.

A Famous Welsh Fortress.

Carnarvon castle is the most splendid specimen of medieval military architecture surviving in Britain, not excepting Alnwick. Art and beauty were combined with strength by De Eifreton, the architect, who had been commanded to construct a palace within an impregnable fortress.

Whether the mean little passage chamber in the Eagle tower was the birthplace of the infant prince whom Edward I. made the medium of such a grim practical joke upon the Welsh seems doubtful, but the main story may still be true. Every famous soldier who helped to make history in this corner of Britain has played some part within or without the walls of Carnarvon castle. It has been started into surrender, but never captured by force of arms and can therefore claim to be considered a "virgin fortress."

Cardinal Farley was surrounded by more than 500 uniformed Knights of Columbus from seven states, many churchmen and 8,000 laymen as he blessed the new church. Roman Catholic clergymen from all parts of the country were present. The cornerstone was laid beside the old one of the last church erected in 1867.

BAKER SHOULD PUNISH TRAITORS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 27.—The flat demand that the war department prosecute and punish for treason any man or men whom it knows to be plotting a Mexican raid on the American forces on the border was made today by William R. Wilcox, chairman of the Republican national committee. It was called forth by the charge made late yesterday by Secretary of War Baker that "enemies of the administration's policy toward Mexico" co-operating with Villa or other bandits, "have arranged a spectacular attack between now and election day."

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke).

New York, Oct. 27.—Colgate is another of these few "minor league colleges" that plays major league football. With only a few hundred students to draw from, Colgate each year sends to the football battlefield an eleven that distinguishes itself in a glorious way.

Once upon a time, the big colleges used to regard the Colgate meeting as a sort of "practice affair." But no more. Colgate has become one of the most feared foes in the country. The "big boys" put their strongest eleven into the field against the warriors from Hamilton, N. Y.; they play the game to the full limit of their powers. And very, very often the only reward they get for their efforts is a noticeable beating. Colgate accomplished one of the biggest surprises of the football year when she crushed the highly touted Illinois eleven, 15 to 3. On its own home grounds, the western football enthusiasts still are gasping over the defeat of this team that was the undisputed western champion 1914 and co-champion last season.

Colgate's Great Record.
But Colgate, where the student enrollment is only about 500, has a habit of introducing surprises to the discomfort of its foes. Its team of 1915 was one of the real sensations of the football world. It flattened Yale, 15 to 0, rolled up 107 points against Rensselaer Polytechnic, beat the army, 13 to 0, and triumphed over St. Lawrence and Stevens by the same scores, 44 to 0. Its only defeat was doled out by the huge Syracuse team, after Colgate had rolled up a 223 to 0 count against its previous rivals.

Colgate isn't a "ringer" college. Its student requirements are of the highest. The faculty does not favor footballers. No matter how great a footballer a student may be he must be up to standard in every one of his studies or he is ruled off the team. All of which makes the Colgate showing the more remarkable.

The Colgate gridiron folks give to Larry Bankart, coach, the major portion of the credit for the great record compiled by Colgate. They regard the former Dartmouth gridiron star as one of the greatest football tutors in America, which he is. But Bankart, modestly tosses the honquet back to the players.

"The glory belongs to the boys," he declares. "It has been their wonderful brain that has won for them. What they have lacked in brawn they have made up in brain and a coach shouldn't come in for much credit when he is teaching a smart crowd of boys who are game through and through."

"Where and what is Carleton?" has been the oft-repeated question since that Saturday of a few weeks ago when the Carleton eleven startled the football world by defeating the powerful Chicago team, 7 to 0.

No football result in recent years has occasioned as much amazement. Chicago gave Carleton a date because it figured it needed something soft in the preliminary games. And the Carleton huskies came from out of their small 500 enrollment college in Northfield, Minn., and jolted all the championship hopes from the bosoms of the maroons.

They grow some awfully husky footballers up in Minn., and Carleton undoubtedly packed a burly squad. But beef alone doesn't win football games in this era. It requires much more, brains and speed, and these Carleton boys must have had those, too, else they could not have won from one of the crack teams of the west.

Carleton was almost unheard of in the gridiron world before that combat. The official football scorekeeper thought so little of its doings that he ignored Carleton in the 1914 and 1915 record books. But the Carleton team of 1916 has carved a noticeable niche in the Hall of Fame, and left a lasting impression upon Chicago and environs.

And in the Fullness.

BAKER CHARGES POLITICAL RAID

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Administration officials today refused to elaborate on the direct charge by Secretary of War Baker that a Mexican bandit raid on Americans has been planned to discredit the Wilson Mexican policy on the very eve of election. The charge, made flatly and without explanation by the war secretary, is only slightly modified by the supplementary statement from Secretary of State Lansing that it "was inconceivable that any American would ally himself with Mexicans to attack his own countrymen."

No interpretation of the statements yet is forthcoming although sources close to the state department intimated that the alleged plot was fanned by a Mexican anti-Carranza revolutionary Junta which has branches in New York, El Paso, Galveston and New Orleans. The department of justice, it was said, was operating to get evidence against this particular organization, made up of Mexican refugee politicians, and until that evidence was complete nothing more could be said.

The charge, however, has had the effect of a bombshell on the national political situation. The peculiar nature of the original Baker charge bitterly angered Republican leaders here and they immediately got into touch with their headquarters in New York. It already is certain that the Republican leaders will demand that Secretary Baker prove his case. The inference of his charge, made only eleven days before election, is felt by the Republicans to be directly against them and it was emphatically asserted today that they will immediately force the issue. If Secretary Baker has "the goods" he will probably be forced to produce at least a part of them or become the target for an attack on the ground that he made his charges entirely for political effect.

One thing that the Baker statement has emphasized, however, and that is that Francisco Villa is alive. Up to the present all official statements dealing with the Mexican situation have taken the position that Villa was either dead or eliminated as a factor in Mexican affairs. Now Secretary Baker practically says that Villa is a distinct factor in Mexican affairs. The fact, also, that the war department was compelled to send its information to General Pershing and Pershing indicates that it was gathered from sources independent of the army operating along the border and on Mexican soil. The question now agitating army circles is whether, with Villa admittedly alive, General Pershing's original orders to "get Villa" are to be renewed. On this source no responsible official of the department would be quoted today.

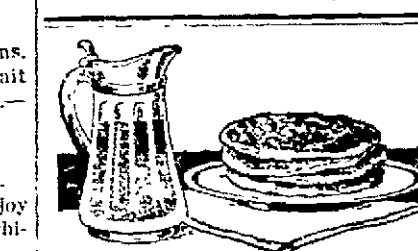

There is as yet no confirmation of the report that the Carranza forces who are operating near Nantiquipa, 25 miles south of the American base in Mexico, have demanded that Pershing withdraw his men northward and shorten his line. It is significant, officials say, that the reports to this effect say that Villista and Carranza forces in this section are fraternizing.

Thousands of Mexicans who have secretly been supporting the Legalist faction plan to join forces with the troops of Felix Diaz in an effort to overthrow the Carranza regime, according to reports received at the department of justice today.

The plan is said to contemplate a union of the forces by the movement of large bodies of Legalist southward. These, upon joining the Diaz troops, will give battle to the main forces of Carranza.

WHERE THE STATE MONEY HAS GONE

Paying Honest Debts That Preceding Democratic Administrations Had Sidetracked—Ulster County Farmers Received $13,596 of it.

Governor Whitman has been charged with extravagance in state administration by his Tammany Hall opponent, Judge Seabury. The judge does not specify, but simply claims "extravagance" in the hope of securing support on election day. This is one of the many instances of state administration which Judge Seabury, in his general way, says is "extravagance" on the part of Governor Whitman's administration.

Several years ago, in the interests of the health of the people of the state, a law was passed whereby the state would condemn, take possession of and kill all horses and cows afflicted with disease, such as tuberculosis, glanders and the foot and mouth disease. The agricultural department if the state carried out the law and the property of many farmers was taken. The horses and cattle were killed and then their owners filed claims for reimbursement by the state.

When Governor Whitman took office, there were claims of this character against the state dating back to 1911. The governor appreciated that failure by the state to pay the amounts due farmers had imposed hardships and retarded agriculture. The amount of the claims due after Ex-Governor Glynn left office was $432,722. This amount should have been paid by the Glynn and Dix administrations, but Ex-Governor Glynn, then the Tammany candidate for re-election as governor, cut out the money appropriation to make the bills over to the Whitman administration. The total amount to which Governor Whitman was required to appropriate in 1915 to pay off all these claims, including those which the Democratic administrations had failed to pay, was $730,000. All claims against the state up to March 1, 1916, have been paid, although the two preceding Democratic administrations had failed to provide for these just obligations of the state.

The Whitman administration has paid 53 claims in Ulster county, many dating back over five years. The total amount was $13,596. This is one of the Tammany Hall candidates' items of "extravagance" charged to Governor Whitman, paying honest debts of the state.

P. O. CLUB INDIGNANT.
Idle Hour Club Must Not Interfere With Idle Half Hour.

To the Editor of The Kingston Daily Freeman,

Dear Sir:—

Considerate indignation was expressed by the members of our club at their meeting last evening when their attention was called to the announcement printed in The Joiner's Column of The Freeman concerning the meeting of The Idle Hour Debating Club. What gave rise to the formation of that club no one seemed to know. Opinion was however freely expressed that the club was organized by a man who was formerly a member of our club but who had been expelled for non-payment of dues and disregard of our by-laws. It was a very easy matter for him to find others of his ilk who were hostile to our club because they had been refused admission into it, and with them to form the rival organization. However their activities will not cause us undue concern. It would be devoting an hour to an idle purpose to debate with them about their right to form the rival organization. We shall therefore not attempt it. Besides that their activities do not really conflict with ours, as our meeting lasts only one half hour—from 8 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.—and when ours ends theirs commences. The name they have chosen is highly appropriate, for after we have discussed a subject and decided it, they first take it up, there indulging in an idle debate and discussion. Our officers will see to it that our activities be not affected by this temporary interruption. Our president believes in pitiless and at the same time profitable publicity; our secretary is always sweet and suits us to a "T." Our treasurer is a jewel and is worth his weight (Troy) in gold. He is also a man of excellent vision. Our meetings are always open to the public, and the accounts of our members with the secretary also always remain open. We need say no more.

Beverages of Sterling Quality

Our Whiskeys and Wines are good—in fact, they are the BEST. Made right at the start from the choicest materials, ripened to perfection before they are marketed by makers who have the capital and facilities to store the goods until they are fit for consumption—they are just eminently the beverages for social, medicinal or bar uses. They are incomparable in quality, flavor and palatableness. Every high-grade standard brand is here represented and sold at prices lower than those of any other dealer—wholesale or retail. Mail orders promptly filled.
